DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103(a)

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-5, 9-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's Admitted Prior Art (AAPA) in view of Zimmer et al.-6,632,127.

AAPA on page 2 of the specification states a known process for repairing a patterned seat surface of a pedestal using a silicon wafer and IPA. AAPA does not disclose using a coarse film. However, Zimmer teaches repairing a surface by using a film of diamond particles (30) bonded to a substrate (26) of silicon material (col. 4, line 45), wherein the film has a coarseness of 15-30 microns (col.4, line 35). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at time invention was made to use a coarse material, as taught by Zimmer, in the pedestal repair method disclosed by AAPA in order to more efficiently and effectively repair the pedestal.

3. Claims 6,7,8 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being over AAPA in view of Zimmer, as applied to claims above, in further view of Kimura et al.-6,293,854.

AAPA in view of Zimmer teaches the claimed invention as detailed above. AAPA in view of Zimmer do not disclose using an adhesive to bond the diamond film to the substrate or using tape on the opposite side of wafer. However, Kimura teaches repairing a pad or 'pedestal' using a substrate (1) having a diamond film (3) bonded thereto by an adhesive (6). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at time invention was made to bond the diamond film of Zimmer to the substrate with an adhesive, as taught by Kimura, in order to secure film to substrate using a well-known, inexpensive bonding means. The choice of adhesive, such as fluorinated oil would have been an obvious design expedient, since any known adhesive would perform equally well. In regard to claim 8, Zimmer uses an adhesive to bond the substrate to a backing plate. To use an adhesive tape would have been an obvious design expedient, since any known adhesive would perform equally well.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-12 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Arguments are drawn to Zimmer polishing a smooth surface. However, the rejection now uses AAPA as the primary reference and Zimmer as a teaching reference for using a coarse film to facilitate the polishing process.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
